Cape Breton Island, CANADA

Little Narrows

The TransCanada Highway runs through the middle of the Island from the Causeway to North Sydney and the ferry over to the Province of Newfoundland. Between the first traffic light and the town of Baddeck, there is a road to Little Narrows, the Highland Village, Iona and eventually Sydney. This short, winding road ends abruptly at the waters of a narrow canal. The ferry is on a cable, and it might carry up to dozen vehicles across a stretch of water that is about as far away as three ferries strung together.

Highland Village

Route 223 past the store takes you along the shore of the Bras d'Or Lake to Iona at the other end of the peninsula. A living history museum and cultural center that celebrates a rich Scottish Gaelic culture. The view and the collection of buildings are true representations of days gone by.

Cabot Trail

A not-to-miss drive with spectacular scenery, rugged shoreline, roads that wind in and out of the tree covered hills along the coast and brilliant changing colors of fall. Following the Margaree River through the Margaree Valley you can just imagine sheep dotting the rolling hillsides reminiscent of the Scotland of yore. (Do not take your RV over the trail! It's hilly, windy and some places are narrow.)

Nova Scotia, CANADA

Halifax

Tour the "Lighthouse Trail," fishing communities, Peggy's Cove, Lunenburg and Mahone Bay for one Kodak moment after another.

Lunenburg

A World Heritage Site with unique architecture and civic design. Lunenburg is also noted for its ship building.

The Scarecrow Festival at Mahone Bay

Experience the spirit of fun and ingenuity of the south shore the last weekend in September. Scarecrows are everywhere (mostly homemade) hiding in the bushes, dancing on the grass and portrayed as various characters.
